INT. INTERIGATION ROOM

Starbuck enters and sees Leoben resting his head on the table.

STARBUCK -
Sleeping?

LEOBEN -
Praying.

She sits down opposite him.

STARBUCK -
I don't think the gods answer the prayers of toasters.

LEOBEN -
God answers everyone's prayers.

STARBUCK -
How many Cylons are there in the fleet?

LEOBEN -
We haven't been properly introduced. I'm Leoben.

STARBUCK -
How many Cylons are there in the fleet?

LEOBEN -
I have no idea. What's your name?

STARBUCK -
How long have you been hiding aboard this ship?

LEOBEN -
Am I not allowed to know your name?

STARBUCK -
Why were you hiding aboard this ship?

LEOBEN -
I had a mission to perform. Listen, it's a small thing can you just tell me who you are?

STARBUCK -
Tell me about your mission and I'll think about it.

LEOBEN -
My mission was to conduct sabotage.

STARBUCK -
What kind of sabotage?

LEOBEN -
God, you stink. Can we get some air in here? Between you and the humidity...

STARBUCK -
I am not here to play games with you. You said you wanted to cooperate. Either start talking or we are done.

LEOBEN -
Okay. But... I really wanna know your name.

STARBUCK -
Open.

She gets up to leave.

LEOBEN -
Are you Lt. Starbuck? (Laughing)
yes, you are. I knew it... (laughing) I was right, I was right. I saw it, I've seen it...

STARBUCK -
Happy now?

LEOBEN -
It all makes sense now, doesn't it?
Now we can talk, now we can talk about a lot of things.

She sits back down.

STARBUCK -
Like what?

LEOBEN -
I planted a nuclear warhead aboard one of your ships. It's set to go off at 18:30 hours.

STARBUCK -

Where?

LEOBEN -

.Not ready to give that up yet.

STARBUCK -

You're lying, there's no warhead.

LEOBEN -

You can't take the chance,
Starbuck. Your military training dictates you take it to your masters and let them decide.

STARBUCK -

Maybe my training wasn't so good.
Maybe I push you out the airlock and tell 'em you never said a word.

LEOBEN -

Now who's lying? These things happen for a reason, don't they?
I'm looking forward to spending a little bit more time with you,
Starbuck we have a lot to talk about ! It's gonna be fun
