

JUDY

-It's pretty loud.

JEN

-It's a bar. To Steve.

JUDY

-To Steve.

JEN

Um...Do you want to say something about him?

JUDY

This isn't really what I was imagining, so I don't...I don't really know what to say.

JEN

Well, um...He was very good-looking.

JUDY

-He was more than that.

JEN

-Right, of course.

JUDY

-You didn't really know him.

JEN

-No, I didn't.

JUDY

He was very thoughtful...and sweet.

JEN

-Okay.

JUDY

-He was. He used to always do these little things for me to make me feel special. Even the way he proposed.

JEN

Yeah? What, um...How did he propose?

JUDY

-With a flash mob.

JEN

-Oh. Aw, that's... that's so fun.

JUDY

I thought we were just going to the beach for the day, but then 200 people jumped up... and did this whole choreographed thing to Cyndi Lauper.

JEN

That's very thoughtful.

JUDY

He really had a soft side that he didn't show a lot of people.

JEN

Mm-hmm. Okay.

JUDY

I know you didn't like him. You have every reason not to. I know who he was.

JEN

I get it.

JUDY

But I loved him. He was the first person who ever...really made me feel loved. He wasn't always perfect. But he was my person.

JEN

No, I know. No, I--I know what you mean.

JUDY

There's this thing I always wanted to tell you, and I just never... never felt like it was the right time.

JEN

-What?

JUDY

-I don't know, just forget it.

JEN

No, you can't tell me you have something to tell me and then not tell me.

JUDY

-Yeah, I hate when people do that. It's annoying.

JEN

-It is. So just tell me.

JUDY

Okay. The morning after we...hit Ted...I woke up, and...Steve wasn't in bed, so I went looking around for him...and I found him at our favourite spot by the beach. And he was just sitting on the wet sand. He was crying like a little kid.

It's not that he didn't care about what happened. He was gutted by it, but I just don't think that he was able to...show his feelings, you know? But I think he felt safe at the beach, and that's why I kind of wanted us to take him there...and put him to rest.

JEN

Yeah, I get it.

JUDY

I just wanted...I just wanted to say goodbye to him. He always took such good care of me. I just wanted to do something for him, too. What's wrong? Are you okay?

JEN

I'm sorry. I'm so sorry. You deserve to say goodbye. I got to do it with Ted, and...Just, I'm so sorry. I'm so sorry. -It's not fair.

JUDY

-No, no, no. Don't cry. I don't want you to feel bad.

JEN

You don't have to take care of me.

JUDY

-I'm sorry.

JEN

-Don't take care of me.

JUDY

-I can do whatever I want.

JEN

It's why Steve loved you. Because you are.....you are, like, the kindest person maybe in the whole fucking world. I love you so much. I really do.

JUDY

-I love you so much.

JEN

Will you be my person?

JUDY

Yes. I'll be your person.
