

LOCKE

Why are you out here, Jack?

JACK

I think I'm going crazy.

LOCKE

You're not going crazy.

JACK

No?

LOCKE

Crazy people don't know they're going crazy. They think they're getting saner.

So why are you out here, Jack?

JACK

I'm chasing something.

Someone.

LOCKE

Ah. The White Rabbit. Alice in Wonderland.

JACK

Yeah, Wonderland. Because who I'm chasing? He's not here.

LOCKE

But you see him.

JACK

Yes. But he's not here.

LOCKE

And if I came to you saying the same thing, what would your explanation be? As a doctor?

JACK

I'd call it a hallucination.

Result of dehydration. Post Traumatic Stress. Not having slept more than two hours a night for the last week. All of the above.

LOCKE

All right, then. You're hallucinating.

But what if you're not?

JACK

Then we're all in a lot of trouble.

LOCKE

I'm an ordinary man, Jack. Meat and potatoes. I live in the real world. Not a big believer in "magic."

But this place is different. Special. The others... they don't want to talk about it because it scares them. But we all know it. We all feel it. Is your white rabbit a hallucination? Probably.

But what if everything that happened here happened for a reason? What if that someone you're chasing is really here?

JACK

That's impossible.

LOCKE

Even if it is, let's say it's not.

JACK

Then what happens if I catch him?

LOCKE

I don't know -- But, I've looked into the eye of this island. And what I saw?

It was beautiful.

JACK

Wait -- Where are you --?

LOCKE

Someone needs this water back at the beach.

JACK

I'll come with you.

LOCKE

No. You need to finish what you started.

JACK

Why?

LOCKE

Because a leader can't lead until he know's where he's going.