

CORONER

88.

53 EXT. JACK'S APARTMENT BUILDING. NIGHT.

A FIREMAN comes out of the building and runs into a COP outside of the perimeter they set up.

COP
Any other bodies?

FIREMAN
No, just the one.

The Cop walks over to the CORONER where he is trying to put Jack's body into his van.

COP
Looks like just this one casualty.

The Cop walks away from the Coroner.

CORONER
It is a body, but not a casualty.

The Cop turns around and looks at the Coroner confused.

COP
What do you mean?

CORONER
Well the apartment he was found in was registered to Jack Folsey, I don't know if this is him yet, but whoever it is, was dead way before the fire.

COP
How do you know.

CORONER
This body is decomposed, hardly anything left, the fire just charred the bones.

COP
So how long has he been dead.

CORONER
Can't say for sure, till I have done some more tests, but gotta be over a year.

The cop is pondering this information as the coroner puts the body in the van and pulls out.
